

Dear All

During this difficult time we are very keen to keep the children developing their reading skills as many of them were on the brink of taking off with their blending. We desperately want this momentum to continue. As such we have scanned all of the Jolly Phonics readers, Songbirds books and Floppy's Phonics books (Level 1-5) in order to be able to email these out to you.

It is very important that these books are not uploaded onto any websites or social media platforms, and that they are deleted once you have read them so that, when this period of closure has ended (and it will) we will again comply with copyright laws which will then come back into play.

If you agree to these conditions please contact us via our new class email accounts and we will start sending books out to you. Once you have completed a book, revisited it and discussed it, please contact us for another one and delete the one you had.

austria@stmarysprimarypulborough.co.uk

uk@stmarysprimarypulborough.co.uk

Please continue to use MyOn for supplementing this and your book collections at home. It would be great if reading logs could continue to be completed; we suggest sending us in a weekly photo of your comments so we can track progress.

As I type this I have my children either side of me doing their home learning so I do understand how tricky this situation is and appreciate all your efforts to support us in keeping your child's learning going during this unprecedented time, please contact us with any queries.

Missing you all lots and hoping you are keeping well

Emma Huntley-Hart and Lee Callender